The purpose of this document is to provide all Department Operations Manual (DOM) holders with information regarding the attached amendment to Chapter 4, Article 34, Revocation Tracking System.

Chapter 4, Article 34, Revocation Tracking System, is deleted in its entirety as this policy is now obsolete. The Article will remain unassigned at this time.

In 2011, the Governor signed into law Assembly Bill (AB) 109, Budget Act of 2011: Public Safety Realignment, which made significant changes to California corrections in regards to low-level offenders, and the parole revocation process. Public Safety Realignment shifted responsibility for people convicted of certain non-serious, non-violent or non-sex felony offenses from state prisons and parole to county jail and probation. In addition, any subsequent county probation revocation proceedings are carried out at the local level. Public Safety Realignment also amended statute concerning the parole revocation process for a majority of the offenders currently housed in state prisons. As of July 1, 2013, jurisdiction for parole revocation proceedings for a majority of cases was transferred from the Board of Parole Hearings (BPH) at the state level to the superior courts at the local level.

BPH requested the California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation update multiple DOM policies to reflect current statute concerning BPH as it relates to parole revocation proceedings. This Notice of Change to DOM is the first of a series of anticipated DOM revisions that update DOM policy to reflect the BPH's responsibilities in the parole revocation process following Public Safety Realignment.

Please inform all persons concerned of the contents of this notice, which shall remain in effect until it is incorporated into the next edition of the DOM. If you have any questions concerning this revision, please contact Diane Powers, Enterprise Information Services at (916) 358-1329.
