GENERAL STANDARD 017

REMOTE LEARNING & TRAINING

STANDARD

Remote learning may be used to facilitate training if the technology used supports the training and expected outcome, and both the instructor and the student have been trained in the use of and have access to the necessary technology.

COMPONENTS

The components of this standard are as follows:

1. For remote learning to be successful, the instructor and students must be trained in the competent operation of the technologies being used, as well as having the necessary equipment.
2. All remote learning/training shall be tracked using CDCR Form-844 or other departmentally approved documentation.
3. Remote learning/training must also adhere to the criteria set forth in GS015 Critical Elements of Effective Training.

AUTHORITY

California Penal Code 13601 (a)(1)

California Penal Code 13601 (d)

California Penal Code 13603 (b)

BACKGROUND

Remote learning/training is defined as training that occurs when the student and the instructor are in separate physical locations and the information is relayed through technology.

Proficiency and competence in the performance of correctional peace officer duties are integral to reinforcing knowledge, skills, and abilities, as well as updates to existing policy and procedures, and are maintained by on-going training programs. Although training is often presented in a setting where the instructor and student are in the same location, technology enables the
